

Sunday, June 28

- 7:30-10:00 NCAI Executive Board Meeting closed to press
Meeting Room 5
- Pre- Meetings:
- 9:00-12:00 PRC Advisory Council Meeting closed to press
Meeting Room 4
- 9:00-12:00 Native Languages Working Group
Meeting Room 10
 Developments on Native languages have taken place on the tribal, state, and federal policy level. Tribes are taking innovative approaches to revitalizing their languages, states are taking action recognizing the importance of Native languages, language immersion legislation is currently pending in Congress, and planning is currently underway for the upcoming Native Languages Summit hosted by federal agencies. So now is the time for a review of the current landscape of Native Languages and discuss next steps. In addition, the Administration for Native Americans (ANA) will be hosting a listening session on its FY'16 Budget Proposal on Language Demonstration Projects (ANA Consultation from 11:00am-12:00pm).
- 9:00-12:00 Trust Modernization: Tribal Leaders' Briefing on Draft Principles, Strategies, and Advocacy Approach for Short-Term Administrative Proposals
Grand Ballroom H
 The Trust Modernization Workgroup, a collection of national and regional tribal organizations, has put together a draft set of principles and corresponding strategies focused on modernizing the trust relationship and trust asset management system. These principles stem from the many previous efforts throughout the past several decades and were developed with the collective input of tribal leadership. In this session, we will discuss the draft principals, their history and development, and focus on the short-term administrative proposals and the approaches to enact them in the remaining months of the current Administration.

 NCAI assists in meeting space for Consultations and Listening Sessions during the NCAI Mid Year Conference as a benefit to all tribes. These sessions do not require registration to the NCAI Mid Year Conference to participate.*

- 9:00-12:00 Department of Education Tribal Consultation ***
Meeting Room 6
 This consultation continues the Department's efforts to fulfill President Obama's Nov. 5, 2009 Presidential Memorandum and Executive Order 13175, which directs agencies to engage in regular and meaningful consultation and strengthening of government-to-government relationships with Indian Tribes. In addition to listening to education issues of concern, the Office of Indian Education (OIE) and the White House Initiative on American Indian and Alaska Native Education (WHIAIANE) will provide updates on the President's Generation Indigenous Initiative, the Native Student Environment Initiative, the Native Language Memorandum of Agreement as well as upcoming grant competitions.
- 9:00-12:00 Department of Housing and Urban Development Consultation ***
Meeting Room 14
 U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development is holding a tribal consultation on the Coordinated Environmental Review Project. The U.S. Senate Appropriations Committee has directed HUD to coordinate and review the environmental review process for Indian housing development. HUD is seeking input from tribes on environmental review process proposals, and the information collected from this tribal consultation will be utilized to propose changes to the existing processes and coordinate environmental review process. For more information, contact Karen Newton Cole at Karen.A.NewtonCole@hud.gov.
- 9:00-12:00 2015 Dental Health Aide Therapist Update
Meeting Room 13
 There is a solution to the oral health disparities in American Indian communities. In Alaska, for over 10 years Dental Health Aide Therapists (DHATs) have been safely providing mid-level oral health care services to Alaska Natives and they are experiencing significant reductions in dental caries. Many tribal leaders are supporting legislation in their states to bring DHATs into their communities. Learn about the work being done in several states to make DHATs a reality and what you can do in your state to support this work.
- David Jordan, Project Director, Dental Access Project, Community Catalyst (confirmed)
 Richard D. Monkman, Partner, Sonosky, Chambers, Sachse, Endreson & Perry, LLP (confirmed)
- 9:00-4:30 TRAINING: Focusing Your Leadership to Advance Your Nation's Priorities
Meeting Room 11
 The Rockwood Leadership Institute is excited to offer our second pre-conference daylong session to NCAI members and tribal leaders. This workshop is designed for people who care about their community, and are interested in exploring how to lead in their organizations and groups more effectively. While there is no additional charge for this training, a separate registration is required for this exciting opportunity. Reservations are required and limited spaces are available. Please email Ian Record at irecord@ncai.org to request a seat.
- 12:00-1:00 New Member Orientation
Meeting Room 7
 All members and officers are invited to this welcome session for new members of NCAI and a briefing on membership, committees, voting, and process. This is an opportunity to learn more about NCAI meeting policy and procedures.
- Robert Holden, Deputy Director, NCAI
 John Dossett, General Counsel, NCAI
 Juanita Ahtone, Chair, Resolutions Committee, NCAI
 Yvonne Oberly, Chair, Rules and Credentials, NCAI

- 1:00-4:00 Registration/Rules & Credentials Open
Grand Lobby – Street Entrance
- 1:00-4:00 Bureau of Indian Education – School Reform Update ***
Meeting Room 6
Monty Roessel (BIE Director) and other BIE staff will provide an update to tribal leaders and other education stakeholders regarding the Department of the Interior’s efforts to transform the Bureau of Indian Education (BIE).
- 1:00-4:00 Trust Modernization: Conversation with the Office of the Special Trustee and Land Buy-Back Program on the Future of Indian Trust Asset Management
Grand Ballroom H
The second half of the Trust Modernization meeting will look at the future of Indian trust asset management at the Department of the Interior (DOI) through a dialogue with the Office of the Special Trustee (OST). While OST was established over 20 years ago as a temporary office, it has taken the roles of financial management of the United States’ fiduciary trust, appraisals or real property, and provides services to trust beneficiaries, among other duties. Further, the Land Buy-Back program is continuing to make purchase offers and works with OST. With the various legislative and administrative proposals on improving trust asset management and streamlining processes at DOI, this important discussion will focus on a pathway forward to create 21st Century solutions for 21st Century tribes.
- 1:00-4:00 Task Force on Violence Against Women /VAWA Implementation Workshop
Meeting Room 3
The Violence Against Women Taskforce serves as a unified tribal voice opposed to violent crimes perpetrated against Native women. This meeting will focus on updates regarding the implementation of the Violence Against Women Reauthorization Act of 2013, and will also discuss strategy surrounding continued advocacy efforts including protecting our Alaska Native sisters, international women’s issues and funding.
- 1:00-4:00 Federal Recognition Task Force
Meeting Room 10
The Federal Recognition Task Force was established to address the interests of all tribes, both federally and non-federally recognized, on any recommended changes to policies, procedures, or strategic plans in the federal recognition process. The Task Force will continue work on the current proposals from the Department of the Interior to modify the federal acknowledgment process.
- 1:00-4:00 Tribal TANF Task Force/Workforce Development Working Group
Meeting Room 14
The NCAI Tribal TANF Task Force/Workforce Development Working Group will have a joint convening to collectively strategize pathways toward improving the programs and initiatives that impact the Native workforce. Attendees will discuss legislative and administrative priorities in areas such as 477, Workforce Investment (WIA), and Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) and hear from various program directors to gain a sense of shared challenges and innovative approaches to promoting flexibility in the design of tribal programming.

 NCAI assists in meeting space for Consultations and Listening Sessions during the NCAI Mid Year Conference as a benefit to all tribes. These sessions do not require registration to the NCAI Mid Year Conference to participate.*

1:00-5:00

TRAINING: Emergency Management Overview for Tribal Leaders

Meeting Room 5

The Department of Homeland Security Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) will deliver a four-hour pilot course designed for tribal leaders seeking to successfully prepare for, respond to, and recover from incidents and disasters. This four-hour course is designed to help tribal leaders understand how effective emergency management can improve the sustainability of their tribal community and better protect tribal citizens, lands, culture, and sovereignty. Upon completion of the course, participants submitting an application will be mailed an EMI certificate of completion for .4 CEUs. Course topics include: (1) the benefits of emergency management in tribal communities; (2) the components of an effective emergency management program; and, (3) the role of a Tribal Emergency Manager. Space is limited to 25 participants. Please RSVP to Robert Holden at rholden@ncai.org.

Protecting Our Natural and Cultural Resources

Meeting Room 3

Preservation of our environments and sacred places is essential to sustain our cultures, traditions, lifestyles, communities, foods, and economies. The effects of climate change, unconstrained economic development, and lack of ability to engage in tribally-determined management and development further threatens our ways of life. We as tribes are proven effective natural resources managers, so we must have a strong voice and role. This session will look at current issues affecting our environment, natural resources, and sacred places to strategize on how we can change policy through pending legislative and administrative efforts.

Chairman Terry Rambler, San Carlos Apache Tribe

Treasure Aaron Hines, Board of Trustees, Confederated Tribes of the Umatilla Indian Reservation

ICWA and Juvenile Justice: Empowering Tribes in the Fight for our Children

Meeting Room 6

Tribes have the power to fashion their justice systems to specifically address the individual needs of their tribal youth populations. In this panel, we will discuss what tribes can do to improve their systems to respond better to state ICWA proceedings, how the foster care system employed by non-compliant courts is failing our youth, and what tribes should take into consideration when drafting juvenile justice codes tailored to their unique youth populations.

Moderator:

Sarah Kastelic, Executive Director, National Indian Child Welfare Association

Panelists:

Kathryn E. Fort, Professor, Michigan State University College of Law

Allie Greenleaf Maldonado, Chief Judge, Little Traverse Bay Bands of Odawa Indians

Addie Rolnick, Professor, William S. Boyd School of Law

Safeguarding our Communities: Addressing Human Trafficking in Indian Country

Meeting Room 13

This session is dedicated to promoting greater awareness among tribal leaders of human trafficking in Indian Country. Panelists will offer general information on how to recognize trafficking, as well as highlight legal and advocacy efforts to stop trafficking and provide services to survivors. There will be ample time for tribal leaders to ask questions, dialogue, and brainstorm about strategies to identify and address trafficking in their communities.

Moderator:

Dr. Alexandra 'Sandi' Pierce, President & Senior Consultant, Otahyonih Research & Evaluation

Panelists:

Brendan Johnson, Robins Kaplan, LLP, Former U.S. Attorney for the District of South Dakota

What Tribes Are Doing to Support Youth

Meeting Room 14

Want to know more about what other tribes are doing to support their youth? Have some examples of what your tribe is doing? Come to this interactive session led by our Native youth leaders and leave with ideas of how tribes, organizations, and individuals can support our youth.

International Advocacy to Protect Tribal Sovereignty

Meeting Room 12

Panelists will provide updates on recent advances and ongoing challenges in implementing the UN Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples and the development of an American Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples at the Organization of American States. Updates will include work related to implementing the Outcome Document of the World Conference on Indigenous Peoples, the recent Universal Periodic Review of the U.S., and ways in which tribal governments can engage on these topics. The breakout session will also highlight recent developments on the issue of international repatriation.

Moderator:

Heather Whiteman Runs Him, Staff Attorney, Native American Rights Fund

Panelists:

Grand Chief Edward John, Akile Ch'oh

Andrea Carmen, Executive Director, International Indian Treaty Council

Pursuing Digital Sovereignty: Removing Barriers and Achieving Success

Meeting Room 4

The use of technology and its applications have led to revolutionary advances in nearly every facet of life across the country. However, tribal lands continue to be the most disconnected areas and therefore excluded from utilizing these services. This session will highlight tribes that created their own telecommunications networks to bring mobile wireless and broadcasting services to tribal lands and areas that other providers have refused to serve. There will also be discussion regarding forthcoming public safety and economic opportunities for tribes to access a nationwide public safety broadband network called FirstNet.

Moderator:

Loris Taylor, President & CEO, Native Public Media

Panelists:

Bruce Holdridge, General Manager, Gila River Telecommunications, Inc.

Randell Harris, IT Manager, Quinault Indian Nation & Member, FirstNet Tribal Outreach Committee

Planning for Success: Next Steps to Further Tribally-Driven Land and Economic Planning

Meeting Room 10

Tribes have seen significant progress on trust reform over the last five years through settlements of trust litigation, passage of the HEARTH Act, and new leasing regulations. The ultimate goal has always been to promote economic development in Indian country, but tribal planning processes tend to be siloed into grant-driven plans, while tribal leaders emphasize the need for planning that fits the future needs of their communities. This session will focus on HEARTH Act implementation, tribal leasing programs, the Land Buy-Back Program, the need for integrated planning for economic development and jobs, education, agriculture and natural resources, and the development of healthy communities.

Cynthia J. Morales, Realty Specialist, HEARTH Act Coordinator and Liaison
Bureau of Indian Affairs Division of Real Estate Services

Workforce Development: Building the Human Capacity to Rebuild Tribal Nations

Meeting Room 5

A growing number of tribal nations are designing innovative approaches to cultivate the abilities of their citizens to successfully pursue careers that those nations have determined are essential to creating the futures they seek. Roundtable participants will share some of these approaches and explore how tribal nations can forge strategic partnerships with academic institutions and other organizations and align federally funded programs like Public Law 102-477 and Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) to achieve their overarching community development and nation-building priorities.

Roundtable participants:

Dr. David Gipp, Chancellor, United Tribes Technical College
Cindy Hoaglen, Director, TANF Program, Round Valley Indian Tribes
Christopher Muñoz, Director of Human Resources, Tigua, Inc., Ysleta del Sur Pueblo
Arlene Templer, Director, Department of Human Resource Development, Confederated Salish and Kootenai Tribes
Jerome "Brooks" Big John, Tribal Council Member, Lac du Flambeau Band of Lake Superior Chippewa

Disasters Express: Resources for Tribal Community Emergencies

Meeting Room 11

Begins with a two-hour "Tribal Communities Emergencies and Disasters Express," and follows with discussion on tribal emergency management training and resources related to Stafford Act tribal authority. Several federal programs are available to assist tribal nations for response and recovery to disasters. Department of Homeland Security Federal Emergency Management Agency officials will provide an overview of its practices, processes, and how to access assistance. Topics include the federal emergency and disaster declaration process, and requesting assistance; assistance available absent an emergency declaration or major disaster; preliminary damage estimate process; completing project worksheets; federal guidelines for delegations of authority; cost share matching requirements; public and individual assistance; and how the appeal processes works.

Facilitators:

Steve Golubic, Former Director of Tribal Affairs, Department of Homeland Security
Robert Holden, Deputy Director, NCAI

6:30-8:30pm Listening Session on Homelessness in Indian Country ***

Meeting Room 13

The United States Interagency Council on Homelessness, in coordination with the Departments of the Interior, Housing and Urban Development, Health and Human Services, and other member agencies, is committed to preventing and ending homelessness among Native Americans. To help guide this ongoing work, we are interested in receiving tribal input on: 1) What are the specific needs and circumstances of Native Americans who experience homelessness? 2) What strategies are working to prevent homelessness or to help people who become homeless? 3) What actions at the tribal, state, or Federal-level can be taken to address Native American homelessness? For more information, contact Kathryn Isom-Clause at kathryn_isom-clause@ios.doi.gov.

6:30-9:00 United League of Indigenous Nations

Meeting Room 3

The United League of Indigenous Nations Treaty was developed by NCAI's Special Committee on Indigenous Nation Relationships in 2007. The Treaty establishes an international political and economic alliance to advance the common interests of indigenous nations on several issues, including: climate change, trade and commerce, cultural properties, and human rights. This meeting will consist of a signing ceremony for tribes interested in endorsing the treaty and a forum for discussion and presentation on important issues affecting indigenous peoples.

7:00-8:30 NCAI Native Vote – Native Candidate Training

Meeting Room 6

The optimum candidates to represent the best interests of Native peoples on Native issues are Native citizens. While many among us are well qualified, the necessary skills to seek office may need to be honed. Candidate training can transform your campaign effort into more effective management for fundraising, forum speaking, constituent outreach, and understanding and utilizing critical election data. NCAI Native Vote encourages Native peoples to step forward to run for all levels of office and represent your community. Please join us for an excellent training session by a nationally known Native professional.

Facilitator: Peggy Flanagan (White Earth Band of Ojibwe), Executive Director, Children's Defense Fund/Minnesota, Founder of the Wellstone Action Native American Leadership Program.

Keeping up with Social Media

Meeting Room 5

Tribal governments in the 21st century are increasingly engaging in e-governance and using social media to connect with highly mobile tribal citizens. This panel is designed to inform tribal leaders and youth of the benefits of social media--as a tool to enhance education, advocacy, and cultural connectedness--but also of its politics and pitfalls. Social media experts from across Indian Country will share their tips & tricks in this highly engaging session.

Facilitator:

Mark Trahant, Charles R. Johnson Professor of Journalism, College of Arts & Sciences at UND

Presenters:

Sarah Beccio, Communications Associate, NCAI

Collin Price, Public Relations Officer, Ho-Chunk Nation

Building Self-Sufficient Tribal Citizens through Financial Literacy

Meeting Room 3

Join us as we showcase innovative models that tribal nations can use to help their citizens set financial goals, choose financial products, and build their skills in managing money, credit, and debt. Tribal leaders will discuss how they have integrated such tools in their own communities, sharing lessons learned about what works and what doesn't. Don't miss this opportunity to learn how you can make a profound difference by providing financial education tools and resources customized to your own community's needs.

Panelists:

Aaron Payment, Chairman, Sault Ste. Marie Tribe of Chippewa Indians

Christine McPherson, Executive Director, the Sault Ste. Marie Tribe of Chippewa Indians

Tanya Fiddler, Executive Director, Four Bands Community Fund

ANA Listening Session on the Community Native Language Coordination Initiative

Meeting Room 10

11:00am-12:00pm

The Administration for Native Americans (ANA) is holding a listening session on the Community Native Language Coordination Initiative proposal in the 2016 Budget. The Initiative will address gaps in community coordination and bring together key drivers of program effectiveness: strong community ties, integrated language/educational services, support services and interventions tailored to the specific community, high performing collaborations, and committed leaders and community champions.

National Indian Child Welfare Association Focus Group: Measuring Strengths in Native Communities

Meeting Room 4

4:00-5:00pm

NICWA is facilitating a focus group with Native data experts like yourself to learn how you view the use of strength-based indicators in Native communities. Mainstream indicators are primarily deficit-based, and often overlook tribal values. We want to hear from you about what strength-based indicators you currently use in your work you're your community. This conversation will focus on how the data story Native children in your community.

NICWA is working closely with NCAI to identify more accurate and relevant data indicators of well-being and resilience among Native children. This project is supported by the Annie E. Casey Foundation. Please join us to share your thoughts and influence how the story of Native youth is told! For questions, please contact NICWA Research Manager Jen Rountree at jen@nicwa.org or (503) 222-4044 x 144.

Public Scoping Session: Developing a Versatile Juvenile Code for Indian Country

Meeting Room 10

12:00-1:00pm

A Discussion Draft embodying ideas for updating the Model Indian Juvenile Code has been developed by Professor Ron Whitener, faculty member for the University of Washington Law School's Native American Law Center (UW NALC) and President of the Center of Indigenous Research and Justice, a non-profit corporation affiliated with the UW NALC. This Listening Session at NCAI's 2015 Mid-Year Conference will seek information and input from Tribal Leaders, Tribal Judges, and Juvenile Justice Professionals. The Session will summarize the background, process and future plan of action in completing the development of a "Model Indian Juvenile Code" as required by 25 U.S.C. § 2454. For questions, please contact Natasha Anderson, BIA Office of Justice Services, Tribal Justice Support at 202-513-0367 or bia_tribal_courts@bia.gov. To download the Discussion Draft, please go to BIA Office of Justice Services' Tribal Justice Support webpage.

USDA Technical Assistance Roundtable

Meeting Room 3

6:30-8:00pm

USDA offers a variety of programs that Tribes, Tribal Leaders, and Tribal Citizens are using. From local food programs to housing opportunities to business and infrastructure programs, USDA offers programs that work to cover the needs of rural America, including Indian Country. This event is designed for conference attendees to get answers to questions about USDA programs and technical assistance that can support construction, infrastructure, home ownership, food sovereignty, farmers markets, and more. Bring your priorities and learn how USDA programs can help you make them reality. For more information, please contact Leslie Wheelock, Director of Tribal Relations, USDA at leslie.wheelock@osec.usda.gov.
