

Becoming Visible: A Landscape Analysis of State Efforts to Provide Native American Education for All

2019 NCAI Annual Convention & Marketplace

Tuesday, October 22, 2019

1:30 – 3:00 p.m.

Room: Taos, Albuquerque Convention Center, Albuquerque NM

This session will showcase a new landscape analysis of state efforts to provide accurate, specific, and contemporary Native American content in their K-12 curriculum. Native educators, school leaders, and policy advocates will hear about the methods and results of this national landscape analysis and will discuss what efforts can be taken in their state to mobilize efforts to implement Native American education for all K-12 students.

Moderator: Nicholas Courtney, Policy Analyst, National Congress of American Indians

Panelists: Jodi Archambault, Director, Indigenous Peoples Initiatives, Wend Collective

Dr. Yvette Roubideaux, Vice President for Research and Director,
Policy Research Center, National Congress of American Indians

Crystal Echo Hawk, Chief Executive Officer, IllumiNative

Diana Cournoyer, Executive Director, National Indian Education Association

- Agenda:
1. Context for the Landscape Analysis
  2. Aims and Methodology of Landscape Analysis
  3. Results of Landscape Analysis
  4. Implications and Future Efforts
  5. Utilizing the State Native American Education Resources Tool Kit
  6. Questions
  7. Adjourn